

STUMP SPEECH BY GOVERNOR

Talks to an Audience at Monona Assembly on State Political Questions.

LOST NO CHANCES

The Conservative Element and the Republican League Scored on Every Opportunity.

(Special A. D. Dispatch.)
Madison, July 31.—Cheered by the state office holders and a few of the campers of the Monona assembly, Governor La Follette on Thursday spoke on purely political subjects at the Madison assembly grounds. From start to finish of his address he scored the last legislature and the conservative element of the republican party and extolled how great and good were the principles that he desired to instill into the minds and hearts of every true citizen of the state of Wisconsin. He played no favorites and the general impression received from those who heard him was that only the followers of the present governor were free from corruption or trickery in the politics of the state.

As a political stump speech the address was most excellent. As an address of a public man from a lecture platform it was worse than a failure. No chance was left for a dig at the conservative element and the part the so-called eleven-story league took in the last campaign. The governor's friend, H. W. Chynoweth, introduced the governor to an audience the majority of whom were holding office by his courtesy and in payment for work they had done in the past for his cause. Mr. Chynoweth's speech like the governor's, was political. He said:

"The management of this assembly deserves the highest praise for its selection of these beautiful and restful grounds as its meeting place; for the safe intellectual treats it has each year in the past given to the public; for the work it is doing, and especially for the crowning success of this great day. Its selection of Wisconsin's great governor, who will speak on the subject of 'Representative Government,' to address you is an additional proof of its desire to please as well as to serve the best interests of the public. It could have chosen no person better qualified to interest or instruct you on this subject than he. He stands for it; he believes in it. In its purity. He has devoted some of the best years of his life to its study, and the advancement of its best interests. He has done it at a sacrifice to himself and his family."

"Some years ago he stood out in the open and boldly advocated certain reforms in government which were distasteful and obnoxious to political bosses, public service corporations and other tax dodgers. They answered his arguments mainly with malignant abuse and wicked vilification which would have stopped any ordinary man. Undaunted he has continued on in his course and now as boldly, defiantly, and earnestly as at first still stands out in the open in advocacy of these reforms. He has accomplished much. He will accomplish more."

"Under his leadership with your support, if God lets him live, the mission of the political boss will end, his machine be wrecked, the public service corporations and all others will be compelled by law to bear their just share of the burdens of taxation, and these corporations will under the law transport to and from you the commodities which you buy and sell without discrimination in cost against any and at rates at least as low as those given to citizens of any other state for a like service under the same or similar conditions."

The governor spoke of all his favorite measures and the way in which they had been met by the conservative element. He began his address with the campaign of 1898 and followed it down until the present time, going into detail to make special vicious attacks upon the newspapers and the corporations.

The governor then described in great detail the methods which he attributed to the lobby in securing the defeat of the railroad legislation and of the primary bill in the legislature of 1901, and he said that after securing the defeat of the party pledges of both political parties the public service corporations openly took the field to capture and destroy the republican administration of this state.

He told of the organization of the Wisconsin Republican League and said:

The republican members of both branches of the legislature who had broken faith with the people and bolted the republican platform were marshaled in an organization. They organized permanent headquarters, employed a large clerical force, made a poll of the entire state, pur-

ITO IS IN LINE FOR PREMIERSHIP

Emperor Believes the Marquis Would Be a Safe Man in Any Foreign Situation.

Tokio, July 30, via San Francisco, July 31.—Although Marquis Ito has been made president of the privy council, formerly presided over by Marquis Sato, the latter loses no rank by the change. Count Matsukata and Marquis Yamagata have been appointed members of the privy council.

The main point about the elevation of Marquis Ito is that it clears his way to the premiership. Incidentally it composes the cabinet difficulty and allows an unbroken front to be presented in foreign nations, but there is a strong belief that it is also heralds the calling of the marquis to control the difficult foreign situation at any time needed.

It is believed that Marquis Ito who has the full confidence of the emperor is in favor of conservative measures toward Russia and that he will exhaust all diplomatic means of obtaining a quid pro quo in Manchuria before resorting to hostilities. He is regarded as a "safe man" in a crisis.

Emperor William of Germany has arrived at Trondheim in the Hohenzoellern. In view of the rumors of the anarchistic plots against the emperor's life special precautions were observed for his safety.

WORKMEN FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH WITH KNIVES

Boston Laborers Settle Their Differences in Revere, Mass., According to the Code.

Revere, Mass., July 31.—Joseph Corso of Boston was killed in a knife duel here by Anthony Montano, also of Boston. The men are said to have quarreled at the New England Gas and Coke company's works in Everett, where they are employed, and came here to settle their difference. Montano was in arrest and two negroes, Thomas Pope and Joseph Monroe, who it is said, saw the fight, have been held as witnesses.

The police were informed by a boy, who ran into the central station and said that two men were fighting in a field off Park avenue. The officers found a man lying on the ground, dead, and with five terrible stab wounds. In the right hand was clamped an open bloodstained knife.

Later word was received from the Chelsea police that they had arrested Anthony Montano for killing a man in Revere. Pope and Monroe had pursued Montano to Chelsea, where he was arrested. Montano had a deep cut over the heart, but a physician did not consider it dangerous. To the Chelsea police Montano admitted that he had "cut" Corso, but claimed that the man had attacked him first.

COUNT SZAPARY IS THE BRIBER

The Governor of Fiume Resigns His Office That He May Testify.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Buda-Pesth, Hungary, July 31.—It is announced that Count Ladislaus Szapary, governor of Fiume, has resigned and will appear before the parliamentary commission, which is to enquire into the bribery charges made in the diet yesterday. He asserts that he furnished the money to bribe Deputy Zolman Pap. Count Szapary is a rich Hungarian magnate and it is said that he endeavored to stop the tactics of the obstructionists upon his own responsibility and without the knowledge of the government. At a meeting of the opposition deputies today, they resolved to continue their obstructive tactics and declared that they would have nothing to do with Premier Hedevarsky who, they declared was unworthy of their recognition.

The resolution embodied an address which it was decided to present to the emperor. The address announces that there will be a continuance of the obstruction until the national demands, which they claim were granted in 1867, (the date of the union of Austria and Hungary) are granted. The meeting further resolved not to spare the offenders at tomorrow's sitting of the diet.

Count Szapary, who is now in Buda Pesth declares his readiness to inform the commission that Premier Hedevarsky had not the slightest cognizance of the affair and that he alone was responsible for the attempt at bribery, having been led astray by political adventurers.

SCARCITY OF CARPENTERS

Building Operations Makes It Difficult to Secure Men

An idea of the difficulty which is being experienced in securing a sufficient number of men to handle the building operations in the neighboring cities may be gained from the visit of one of the members of the firm of Swenson Bros., of Madison, to this city yesterday. Mr. Swenson wishes to secure fifty carpenters at once. So many new buildings are going up at the Capital city that it is impossible to secure the number of men needed for the work.

JERSEY CITY HAS BIG FIRE

The Lackawanna Freight Sheds Started Burning at 10 O'clock Last Night.

HALF MILLION LOSS

Fourteen Persons Are Reported More or Less Injured in the Light with Fire.

Jersey City, July 31.—It was not until three o'clock this morning that the fire department was able to get the flames of the Lackawanna freight sheds under control. Aside from these sheds others in the neighborhood caught and the blaze which began at ten last night burned until three.

Many Hurt
For a time it was thought that all the sheds in the neighborhood would be consumed as the fire spread too quickly to be handled by the department. Fourteen persons are known to have been more or less injured in the work and some it is feared, are burned very seriously. A tar paper factory and the Jarvis Tobacco company are losers by the fire.

INDEPENDENCE IS AGAIN SOUGHT

Premier Laurier Says New Transcontinental Line is Needed in Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., July 31.—Premier Laurier made some strong references to American threats of withdrawing the bonding privilege in his announcing the governments transcontinental policy today.

Among the reasons why the proposed new government road from Quebec to Moncton is considered necessary, he said "is the dependence of Canada upon American good will for railway communication with ocean ports. Canada has ports as free from ice as the ports of the United States, but has not the railways to carry the traffic to them on competing terms. Because Canada has refused to make the fishery treaty concessions demanded by the United States and on other occasions she has been threatened with the withdrawal of the bonding privilege."

"What would happen if a time of excitement should arise in which such threats were made again and carried into effect under Canada's present railway conditions? The only answer is to build a new short cut government railway across New Brunswick."

NEGRO PASTOR NEEDS PISTOL

FUGITIVE LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS

J. W. Woods, Leader of Escaped Convict, Was a Former Army Deserter.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Placerville Cal., July 31.—Although hundreds of armed men are now engaged in the search of the twelve surviving prisoners who escaped from the Folsom penitentiary Monday morning the outlaws have succeeded in eluding their pursuers and the ultimate escape of at least a portion of the gang seems probable.

J. W. Woods, the leader of the escaped convicts, is said by prisoners who know him to have been a soldier with the United States regulars in the Philippines. According to their story, he deserted from the federal troops and joined the Filipinos. He was regarded as a hero among the convicts, who say he was once surrounded by a detachment of troops and managed to break through their lines at night, and gathering a force of Filipinos, captured the United States soldiers and had them shot to death.

Later Woods was captured and was tried by a mixed court martial on a charge of desertion and of aiding the enemy. He was convicted by the Secretary of War disapproved of the finding for the reason that Woods being a regular could not be held by the decision of a mixed court. For reasons not known Woods was never tried again and he returned to America.

Federal Jurist Will Act if Alabama Coal Commission Will Do Its Work in August.

Wilmington, Del., July 31.—Judge George Gray has decided to accept appointment as the fifth member of the Alabama coal strike commission and so telegraphed to the other members of the commission at Atlantic City. He made his acceptance conditional, however, on the commission's work being done during August, as he will have to reside over the United States Circuit court of appeals the second week in September. In order to attend to the commission work he will have to forego his August vacation.

Judge Gray will leave Wilmington Aug. 8 for Birmingham, Ala., where the commission will sit. He expects the sessions to begin the following Monday.

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.—News that Judge Gray had accepted the position of fifth member of the board of arbitration caused rejoicing throughout Birmingham and the mining district. Shortly after the receipt of the press message Secretary Clemo of the United Mine Workers received the following from Edward Flynn, district president:

President E. B. Roden of the Coal Operators' association announced that the 14,000 miners would return to work at once.

THE CONCLAVE HAS STARTED

Cardinals Are Now All Enclosed in the Sixtine Chapel, To Elect a Pope.

TO VOTE SATURDAY

The Doors Are Barred, and Windows Walled Up, According to Ancient Custom.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Rome July 31.—The conclave which will elect a successor to Pope Leo XIII began today. The cardinals met this morning and entered the vatican for the last time preparatory to a voluntary imprisonment until the new pope is elected. The first ceremony was the mass of the Holy Ghost, celebrated in the Pauline chapel by Cardinal Oregila, dean of the sacred college.

The Sermon
Then followed the sermon by Mgr. Sardi, "pro Eligendo Pontifice." The Sixtine choir sang "Veni Creator" and the conclavists traversed in procession the royal path. Prince Chini as hereditary marshal of the conclave cleared the vatican of all those except the ones permitted to enter the conclave.

Doors Locked
Cardinal Camerlengo and three cardinals inspected all the doors and windows and finally Oregila locked the last door on the inside while Prince Chini did the same on the outside. The session this evening will be spent in informal discussion and tomorrow morning the first ballot will be taken.

Rome, July 31.—The first vote on a successor to Pope Leo XIII will be taken at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The cardinals will enter the conclave at 5 this afternoon, but the opening hours will be devoted to prayer and probably to discussion concerning the respective claims and merits of the various candidates.

From the moment that the doors of the Vatican close on the congregation the strictest secrecy will be observed. Not the slightest talking will be permitted to reach the world of the proceedings until the choice of the new pontiff is announced.

Opinions are divided concerning the length of time over which the conclave is likely to extend. Some think the contest will not last more than a day or two. Others maintain that it is certain to continue many days.

Of the former opinion are the followers of the Rampolla-Gottl faction. That Cardinal Rampolla must be elected soon if at all is agreed on all sides. Should it become evident that his candidacy is hopeless his strength will at once be thrown to Cardinal Gottl, so that there is also reason to anticipate a short session in the event of the latter's election.

If both these candidates fall it is not improbable that the contest may be considerably prolonged, as the anti-Rampolla faction is considerably divided, the names of Cardinal Oregila, Di Pietro, Serafino Vannutelli and others having been mentioned as likely to be supported by various small parties, who are united only in their opposition to the Rampolla-Gottl element.

MUCH DIFFICULTY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain Says the Greatest Difficulty is to Reconcile Boers with Boers.

London, July 31.—In the house of commons today during the discussion of the colonial office vote, replying to an attack on the government's policy and Lord Milner's administration of South Africa by Mr. Markham, Liberal, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain defended the administration of South Africa. He said the greatest difficulty was not the reconciliation of the Boers and Britons, but the reconciliation of the Boers with the Boers. Mr. Chamberlain admitted that much remained to be done and said that if it was found that the work of pacification was prevented by irreconcilables the government would not hesitate to use its strong power to deport the mischief makers.

PALACE TO BE CROSS SHAPED

HOME OF HORTICULTURAL EXHIBIT AT ST. LOUIS.

FINE EXPOSITION STRUCTURE

Will Be Located on Skinker Hill—One Wing Entirely of Glass—Use of Elevators.

As the days go by the plans for the great Louisiana Purchase Exposition are nearing perfection and the general public are interested to know just what is being planned for their delectation when the time for the opening really comes. Thanks to the bureau of publicity the most interesting features are explained through the papers and by special arrangement the Gazette from time to time has given its readers descriptions of the best and most novel features planned. Yesterday's Milwaukee Sentinel, and the Chicago Record Herald published a long account of the wonderful flower clock that is being arranged for and the works of which are being made in Milwaukee. Some weeks ago the Gazette published the same story almost word for word that appeared in the two papers named. Today the Palace of Horticulture is described.

In Cross Form
The Palace of Horticulture at the World's Fair at St. Louis is on the summit of Skinker Hill and is separated from the palace of Agriculture by 250 feet of model landscape gardens. The beautiful palace, 400 by 800 feet, in its extreme measurements, is in form of a cross with a center pavilion, 400 feet square, and two wings are divided from the center pavilion by glass partitions and the floor of each is 5 feet lower than that of the center pavilion. The difference in elevation produces a monumental effect, which is further heightened by the use in the main entrance on the north front of two towers 150 feet high.

The eastern wing of the building is almost entirely of glass and will be used as a conservatory. A water heating plant is to be installed in the cellar and the pipes are led throughout the wing. Plants will be forced during the winter and early spring for out door planting, and in the conservatories will be kept tropical plants. At the close of the Exposition many of the valuable plants that would perish from the cold, will be stored therein and kept during the winter. The glass sides allow the admission of the sun throughout the day. In this wing will be shown specimens of plant culture grown in different countries for use and ornament, and the forced culture of vegetables and fruits.

With Storage Basement
The west wing is used for general horticultural exhibits. In the basement of this wing cold storage is provided for the fruit to be exhibited, the cellar having double walls packed with sawdust. In the basement is an unpacking room which will keep the shipping debris out of sight. A gallery is provided on three sides. The west and north galleries will be used as restaurants. Tables will be set so the visitors may observe the exhibits below while at lunch. The gallery is easily accessible by stairs from the center pavilion and from the main floor. The southern gallery will be used as offices for the working force of the Department of Horticulture.

The center pavilion will contain the pomological exhibits, including maceaus and stone fruits, such as apples, peaches, nectarines, etc.; citrus fruits such as oranges, lemons, limes, etc.; and sub-tropical fruits, as pineapples, bananas, olives, figs, etc.; small fruits, such as strawberries, gooseberries, etc.; and nuts. The construction of the building shows no change from the accepted method of the other buildings. The exhibit spaces are covered by trusses which range in span from 72 feet over the center aisle to 48 feet over the side aisles.

ENFORCES LAW FOR IMPORTERS

State Veterinarian Is Not After the Men Who Violate State Laws.

State Veterinarian E. D. Roberts is making things hot for importers of western range horses who are bringing the animals into the state contrary to the law passed by the last session of the legislature. Already he has secured two convictions which carried a fine of $100 each, since he started. One at Reedsburg, July 25, when charges were preferred against A. L. Reynolds of Billings, Mont., and a conviction and fine of $100 was made. The next was at the same place under the same law and McDonald Bros. of South Dakota pleaded guilty and paid the same fine. These are the first two convictions under the new law and many more complaints will be filed at once as other western shippers have sent several carloads of western range horses into Wisconsin contrary to the law. Dr. Roberts states that most of the cases of glanders throughout the state had been brought into the state by western horses before the inspection system was placed in operation.

Running Races at Beloit, July 31st and August 1st

The success of the running meet of the Beloit Jockey club is assured as they already have more than enough horses to fill all classes. Over $100,000 in purses and a $300 Derby, besides several special races.

The new Carnegie library at Beloit was opened Wednesday. It cost $29,000.

SWIMMING A LESS FAVORITE SPORT

Since Death of Vermilya, Up-River Swimming Holes Are Less Frequent.

Since the recent drowning in Rock river there has been considerably less swimming indulged in by former habitués of the good swimming holes up stream. While two weeks ago the sand bar opposite the ice house, had visitors almost every pleasant afternoon, and the different places used for swimming further down as well, these spots along the shore are now practically deserted. The drowning of young Vermilya has quieted the laughter and splashing of the swimmers all along the stream.

Running Races at Beloit, July 31st and August 1st

The Beloit Jockey club have 40 entries in all classes and new entries are arriving daily.

RAILROAD NEWS FROM BOTH LINES

Semaphores at Madison Out of Order—Show Cars Sidetracked in the Yards.

Roads in the Central Freight association are suffering from a car famine. None of them has either enough freight or passenger cars to supply the wants of the shippers or the traveling public to the extent asked, and the roads, had they more cars and the power to haul them, would be doing better business than at present, although now doing the heaviest business in their history. The oldest passenger officials say they never had such a demand as exists today, and so many people are taking longer trips to the seashore or to other resorts that it requires additional equipment. General Manager Atterbury of the Pennsylvania lines has appealed to consignees to promptly release cars at destination in order to prevent the Passenger earnings of the Milwaukee road for the year ended June 30 last were $650,000 in excess of those of the previous year. This is regarded as a phenomenal showing. In view of the fact that for the year ended June 30 they were $1,000,000 ahead of the preceding one, so that the increase in passenger earnings on this road has been $1,650,000.

The new Kansas City cutoff of the Milwaukee road probably will be finished and open for traffic by Sept. 1. The rails are now laid and the ballasting completed except for a few miles. It will take some time to settle the tracks before trains can be run, and the recent wet weather has delayed this work.

Notice has been posted at the depot that the time passes, over forty in number, issued to members of the Wild West show, and which were good to August 10th, are to be taken up if presented on trains and the fare collected, the passes to be returned to the general offices. These tickets were good in the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Minneapolis.

The train order signals or semaphores at Madison cannot be used until further notice and all trains will be governed by a red flag by day and a red lantern by night.

The west stand pipe at Beloit will be out of service for a couple of months.

BAPTIST CHURCH WAS DEDICATED

Corner Stone of a Fine Building Was Laid in Evansville Yesterday.

Evansville Baptists yesterday laid the corner stone of their new church with impressive ceremonies. The special program for the afternoon was conducted by Rev. O. P. Bestor of Milwaukee who delivered the address. Mr. Bestor was at one time pastor of the church in Evansville and has always been much interested in its growth and welfare. Miss Maggie Gillies read the church history and this with numerous articles was placed in the corner stone. Baker's band furnished the music for the occasion. The new church will be forty-eight feet square with the most modern style of architecture and will have a basement, dining room and kitchen and large furnace room. The basement is to be built of brown sandstone and the superstructure is to be of pressed brick.

RATS WILL NOT GO NEAR CIGAR CASES

Odor of the Weed Is Offensive to Rodents, and Appears to Nauseate Them.

"At any rate, the tobacco man can put in a good word for the rat," said an old cigar man, "but I suppose he is about the only man that would say anything about the rodent family that was good. Besides, what he says is a negative sort of goodness. The rat simply does not bother the tobacco man. During a long experience in the tobacco business, an experience covering twenty-five years or more, I can recall but few instances where the rat became at all bothersome around cigar stores. They can not stand the odor of tobacco, and I have never known of rats eating tobacco in any form, or even of rats attempting to cut into tobacco. I suppose the taste of the weed is offensive to the rodent's palate. At any rate they will have nothing to do with it. You might fill this place with rats, and I would open every box of cigars to tobacco. In the place, so the tribe would have easy access to the stock, and I would lay a wager that we could come in here after they remained over night and find that they had not touched a thing in the place."

"Rats are not chewers of tobacco nor smokers, nor users of the weed in any form. Even the smoke of tobacco seems to craze them. I remember a few years ago to have made an experiment for the purpose of seeing what effect smoke would have on the rat and to determine the cause of the rat's antipathy to tobacco. I had caught a rat in a trap at my home. I put him in a little cage and began to blow tobacco smoke in on him. I have seen a great many panic stricken animals, but nothing compassed by my experience equalled the wild alarm of that rat when I began to puff the smoke through the sides of the cage. If the cage had been on fire he would not have been more frightened than he was. Maybe that is what he thought. I carried the experiment further than I intended, for before I knew it the rat had become as limp as a rag, and was evidently very much nauseated. The experiment taught me that the rat's stomach rebels at either the smell or the taste of tobacco, and I suppose that's why we are not pestered by rats in cigar stores."

COAL PREPARING FOR LITTLE JUMP

Prices Will Probably Be Elevated Fifteen to Twenty-Five Cents in a Short Time.

Good bituminous coal is now selling in Janesville at $8.50 per ton and the dealers think that it will soon go up to $8.75 anyway, this is figuring at summer prices and the men who handle the black diamonds believe that the price will have to be raised considerably higher than this figure before the winter has advanced very far. One dealer said that "The demand for hard coal is nothing out of the ordinary, considering the dreadful coal famine of last winter."

The dealers expect now that there will be a raise in the price of soft coal by the fifteenth of next month and probably another raise by the first of September.

Wood High,
Good wood is scarce, unusually so for this season of the year, for while green oak and maple can be secured it is not so easy to find the dry article. Most of the present supply is coming from wood that was cut last fall and more of it from this spring cutting so it is difficult to secure a lot that is as dry as it should be to burn well. Four foot oak is selling for $7.00 and $7.50 sawed. Pine slabs can be secured for $5.50 sawed, while maple is $8 and $8.50 and is liable soon to reach $9.00. These prices are figured on the basis of the summer supply.

Are Buying Coal
Large consumers are now ordering their coal for the winter months, while the smaller users concern themselves very little about purchasing their supply during the hot weather.

As there is no strike imminent in the mining regions at the present time, people have full confidence in the sufficiency of the supply of anthracite for next winter. In view of this fact there is even less than the usual rush at the coal offices, even if the price does advance 25 cents per ton in the near future.

PILGRIMAGE TO OZONE REGIONS

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS PREPARE TO GO NORTH.

CAUSE OF PEST NOT KNOWN

Pollen of Ragweed Is Commonly Given Credit for Causing the Dreadful Ailment.

Hay fever sufferers are beginning to feel the premonitory symptoms of their annual ailment, although the disease is not scheduled to begin until about Aug. 18 when ragweed and golden rod are in the height of blooming. Some have planned to seek relief in new places somewhere in the ozone belt of northern Wisconsin or Canada while others will content themselves with returning to the vacation resorts of last year.

One physician who for twenty years has been putting into practice medical remedies for the dreadful ailment said yesterday that the latter part of August is generally considered the time for its outbreak.

Hay Fever Late in August
"People have rose fever in June, the wild rose's time," he said "and hay fever late in August until the frost breaks it up. Those who are afflicted with anything like hay fever now owe it to individual causes and peculiarities, as there is nothing like an epidemic on at the present. We don't know for sure, what causes it. Ragweed pollen is generally accepted, but it may be some other flower that blossoms in the neighborhood. Certainly hay fever is epidemic in places where the ragweed does not grow, and probably the plant is luxuriant in places where hay fever has never come. Three or four years ago I treated a lady in Northern Wisconsin and effected her cure as far as all the dangerous plants were concerned except one. I do not regard hay fever as incurable. In my experience eight out of every ten cases have either been cured or improved to such an extent that they were practically exempt from the bad effects."

"Do you consider that ozone as a curative agent will abolish hay fever?"

Northern Latitudes as Curatives.
"I will not go as far as that, although patients who go to northern latitudes choose those in which ozone exists prominently. I have heard the ozone treatment recommended for hay fever and believe that its use will alleviate the disease. Ozone which is the active form of oxygen, purifies and revitalizes the blood and kills all disease germs that it can come in contact with. This no one disputes. Today, for instance there is ozone in our air, but generally it exists only in small quantities and in public and office buildings stores and many homes, the air is notoriously impure. Ozone instantly strikes at the foundation of the disease not only by destroying germs, but by oxygenating the blood, and giving it new tone and quality."

Ozone Also Purifies Water.
"Much has been said of late," continued the doctor, "about use of ozone in purifying water for the use of cities. Its employment for this purpose depends on its well known power to kill germs. In medicine, its use has been recognized as a germ killer and blood revitalizer, but no means of storing and transporting it have been known, and its production is expensive. I have just finished a wonderful exposition of its germ destroying power. Blood which has decayed for months, has been speedily made sweet smelling by the infusion of ozone. Moreover, it was changed to arterial blood and separated into serum and clot again as if fresh from the animal."

All the points which are believed to give relief from hay fever are booking rooms in advance for the sufferers who postpone their vacations until they begin to sneeze. Mackinaw and Manitoulin Islands, Lake Nipissing, Ashland, Ellenville, and Manitowish are famous for restorative qualities in the atmosphere.

JANESVILLE MAN LASSOES PLUG HAT

Everybody who met J.W. Bates today could not help but notice the absence of the familiar "plug hat" and those who refrained from inquiring about the phenomena were fortunate for, while the "judge" is not a fighting man, he was in ill humor this morning.

Mr. Bates is well known to almost every resident of both Janesville and Beloit and yesterday afternoon a party of Janesville citizens were here and in the evening were in the mood for practical jokes. One of the fellows had a noose of wire which he was slipping over the heads of members of the party and it created lots of fun. At this juncture Mr. Bates was sighted and as everybody in the party knew him the wire went over the plug with a swish and when the judge dodged, the tile was caught amish and badly wrecked. The hat Mr. Bates is wearing today is a soft crush affair and he says his friends can jump on it if they desire.—Beloit Free Press.

STORM DAMAGE IS REPAIRED

Chimneys Which Were Destroyed at the Janesville Red Brick Works, Are Rebuilt.

The three big chimneys over the new drying apparatus at the brick works that were destroyed by the last storm have been rebuilt and are now receiving the last coat of paint. These chimneys are made of wood and nearly sixty feet high. With the new drying plant the bricks are heated by steam instead of being put out in the open air under the racks. In the new system there are ten long narrow passageways with ten shelves along each side on the walls. These brackets hold the ends of the wooden platters of lath that the bricks are first laid upon when they come fresh from the mold. Along the floors of these passageways tracks are laid and there are also tracks along the sides of the building.

An iron hand car runs on this track and automatically loads and unloads the bricks. With this system there is a great saving in time and labor. It is claimed that the bricks can be dried in the steam kilns two or three times as fast as by the old method and that they can be handled much more cheaply.

SEEK TO PERFECT WEATHER SERVICE

Scientists Hope to Be Able to Give More Accurate Accounts of the Weather.

Interesting experiments are now being conducted at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, with the coelostat by the means of which it is hoped more accurate weather predictions may be made. A series of observations of the sun is being made by scientists of the institution. These observations deal with the absorption of the sun's rays by the gases which surround the sun. It is the belief of some scientists that this absorption varies, and thus has a great influence on the weather conditions on the earth.

The more the rays are absorbed by the gases the cooler becomes the weather, and the less absorption the hotter it becomes. All the observations will be based on the theory. As yet the observations have not been numerous enough to establish a stable basis for this theory. This coelostat, which is new and the largest in the United States, and differs from other instruments of its kind in that it has a second mirror, which gives a fixed northern ray as well as a mirror which reflects a ray from different positions of the sun. The telescope which is used in connection with the coelostat has a horizontal length of 140 feet.

Sun Spots
Especially attention will be given in these observations to the so-called "sun spots," for the origin of which many theories have been advanced. Halen of Edinburgh observatory has advanced the theory that the sun spots are most numerous every tenth year because at the end of a decade the gases surrounding the sun have to the extent of their capacity absorbed all the sun's rays, and then the heat of the sun, becoming most intense, rends the envelope restraining it. The sun spots, Halen asserts, are the rents in the envelope.

According to this theory the weather is bound to be hotter on the earth immediately after the occurrence of the large number of sun spots, which permit greater intensity in the rays of the sun that reach the earth. This theory would also argue that the coolest summer season should be immediately followed by the breaking of the envelope of gases around the sun.

After these disturbances in the sun's atmosphere the gases gradually regain their power of absorption, and obstructing the rays of the sun cause cooler summers.

EXPLOSION CAUSED A FALSE REPORT

Engineer Griffey Said To Be Killed at the Water Pumping Station Last Night.

An explosion at the water works pumping station last evening, caused by the blowing out of a valve stem, was the source of a report which was current to the effect that the boiler had exploded and that Engineer Griffey had been killed. Supt. Hyzer was called to bring relief, but before he could arrive the escaping steam had been shut off, and Engineer Griffey had emerged unharmed from the cloud of vapor which had filled the station.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, July 31, 1863.—A flag for Twelfth Battery.—An effort is being made, we understand, to raise means from among the citizens of Janesville, to purchase a flag for the 12th battery. The boys have long wished for such an emblem, and we hope our citizens will show their usual generosity and present them with a neat banner.

A letter from Bermuda, dated 22d July says: The pirate Florida was still in port, her departure having been delayed by the refusal of the naval authorities to furnish her fuel.

Gen. Grant has effected a thorough system of mounted patrols from Vicksburg to New Orleans, who together with our gunboats, protect everything between those places. Everything is very quiet with no sign of a rebel on either shore.

The officers and men of the 54th regiment, Massachusetts, colored, will not be given up to us, and unofficial reports say the negroes have been sold into slavery, and the officers treated with unmeasured abuse.

All our wounded at Charleston have been treated most barbarously. Opportunities to amputate were eagerly seized upon by the rebel surgeons, and it was performed in cases of the slightest gunshot wounds.

The confederates under Chalmers and others, who have so long infested the northern part of Mississippi are rapidly retreating below. It is supposed that they are hurrying on to join either the forces of Bragg or Johnston.

Many Kinds of Sport

The Richard K. Fox Rowing Cup a Handsome Trophy • Coming International Tennis Matches at Longwood, Mass.

One of the principal events at the coming regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen to be held at Worcester, Mass., will be contested by intermediate eights for the Richard K. Fox $2,500 cup. The trophy has been presented by Richard K. Fox of New York and is a beautiful piece of workmanship. It is of silver, weighs over 300 ounces and is 2 feet 4 inches in height. It was exhibited at the World's fair in Chicago, where it attracted universal attention, and is conceded by experts to be the handsomest and most artistic trophy of its kind ever put up for competition.

It is designed in the Italian renaissance style. The handsome wood base upon which it stands is a Maltese cross in plan, on one side of which is a well posed figure of an oarsman about twelve inches high holding his scull in his right hand. This figure is very finely modeled and shows the athlete to perfection. From the base springs another one, round, making a total of five and three-fourths inches high, with silver mounting, and from this rise the silver foot and stem of

The figure in front of the cup, standing on the base, was posed for by George Hosmer, the famous carman.

The selection of the Wrenn brothers to compete against the Doherty brothers of England in the coming international tennis matches at Longwood, Mass., has been hailed with satisfaction by the racket enthusiasts of the country.

Bob Wrenn, the older of the brothers, was formerly the singles champion of the United States. He was never defeated for the title, having forfeited it in 1898 to go to Cuba with Roosevelt's rough riders. Wrenn has had considerable experience in matches with leading English players, and this fact should enable himself and his brother, George L., junior, to make a strong showing against the redoubtable Brits who last year, at Bay Ridge, New York, defeated Holcomb Ward and Dwight F. Davis for the championship of the world in doubles.

The international matches in doubles are to be played for the Davis Challenge bowl, which D. F. Davis, who is a native of St. Louis, presented for competition last season. The victory of the Dohertys enabled them to take the trophy to England. The Wrenn brothers are in excellent form and hope to bring the trophy back to Uncle Sam.

William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., who is to represent the United States in singles, will meet H. L. Doherty, the champion singles of England. Larned defeated Doherty last August at Newport, where the Englishman came very close to capturing the national championship. Only Larned's superb work saved the title from accompanying the Davis trophy across the Atlantic.

The recently made match race between the sensational pacers, Anaconda, 2:01½, and Dan Patch, 1:59½, for $25,000 a side should be one of the greatest light harness events of recent years. Both horses have developed in splendid shape this season and are prepared to step the fastest miles of their careers.

Quite a Ceremony

A Buddhist dignitary was recently buried in Japan, and the police attended the funeral and made an official report of the ceremonies, which must have been rather picturesque. The report merely says: "Three hundred and eleven injured, 75 faint, 121 thefts, 374 pickpockets captured, 1,021 articles lost and 79 people rescued from canals."

It is very likely that Lou Dillon, C. G. K. Billings' swift trotter, will be sent after the world's record at the Brighton Beach (New York) grand circuit meeting. Secretary McCully of the trotting association has an eye to the attraction and is sure Mr. Billings will send his mare after Cresceus' mark. Lou Dillon has traveled a mile faster to wagon than any trotter of her sex. Recently she negotiated a mile in 2:03½, and Mr. Billings is confident that she will eventually make a new record for the mile.

M. E. McHenry, who trains Dan Patch, was anxious that Tanner complete the match at once, but finally gave in to Knox's request that the plans be consummated later.

There is doubt that the race will be run as agreed, as Anaconda was but recently placed in the hands of Jack Curry, who long campaigned Joe Patchen.

International Golf

This leaves three places on the team to be filled, as twelve players will come, and it is expected that Horace G. Hutchinson, the runner up in the recent amateur championships, will be one of them.

A most interesting figure among those who have been selected will be John L. Low. He is considered one of the greatest putters in the world.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Generally fair tonight and east-portion Saturday. Probably threatening and warmer west portion Saturday.

FROM OUTSIDE

It is more than interesting to see how Michigan looks upon our government. Not only is it interesting from a standpoint of public opinion but Michigan went through just such a period in its political history as Wisconsin is now enduring.

Grand Rapids, (Mich.) Herald:
Gov. La Follette of Wisconsin can be depended upon to hang himself if given sufficient rope, and there is every indication that he is reeling off enough for all ordinary purposes.
Gov. La Follette was twice elected as a republican, and he poses as a member of that party. But his own personal ideas and the principles of his party are far apart and seem to be getting more so.

While Gov. La Follette confined his campaign to Kansas, and Nebraska, and the middle western states, not much attention was paid to him, but this summer he is invading the east, and the sentiments he expresses are those of a populist or a Tom Johnson rather than the sober thought of the executive of a republican state. In a Chautauque lecture a few days ago he dealt with the trusts and corporations and the primary election laws. That the trusts and corporations are in need of wholesome regulation and that reform is desirable in the primaries, will be admitted, but Gov. La Follette goes to an extreme to which no good republican will follow and which will not receive the indorsement of common sense.

Gov. La Follette has been much the same kind of a smasher in Wisconsin politics as Gov. Pingree was in Michigan. He lacks the Pingree originality and strength, however, and instead of gaining a following, in his own party, it is more likely he will in the course of time find himself a derelict. In view of his recent utterances it is not surprising the sober and conservative party men in Wisconsin have turned against him and have sought to defeat his pet measures, both in and out of legislature. An extremist is never a safe or a wise leader, and when one is in the saddle it behooves wise men to be on their guard.

IRON AND STEEL

Imports of iron and steel into the United States in the fiscal year, 1903 are larger than in any preceding year since 1891 and with that single exception are larger than at any time within the past twenty years. In only seven earlier years in the history of the country have the imports of iron and steel been as large as those of the fiscal year just ended. The total value of iron and steel imported in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1903, as shown by the figures of the Department of Commerce and Labor through its treasury bureau of Statistics is $51, 617,312, against $27,180,247 in 1902, $17,874,789 in 1901, and $12,100,440 in 1899. Running back through the the import record from 1850 down to 1903 the only years in which the value of iron and steel imports exceeded those of 1903 was 1872 when the total was $55,510,188, 1873, $59,308, 452; 1880 $53,714,008; 1881, $60,604,
477; 1882, $67,976,897; 1883, $58,495, 246; and 1891, $53,514,272. These large imports of iron and steel have occurred, it will be seen, in periods of exceptional business activity, but on no former occasions have such large imports been made in the face of so great home productions of iron and steel. In 1891 when the imports were two million dollars greater than in the year just ended, the total home production of pig iron was only 3 1/2 millions, while that of 1902 was over 17 million tons, or double that of 1891. In the period from 1880 to 1883, when the imports of iron and steel were larger than those of 1903, pig iron production only averaged about 1 million tons per annum or less than one-fourth of the annual production of the present time, and in 1872 and 1873 when the importations slightly exceeded those of 1903 the pig iron production averaged only 2 1/2 million tons annually, against 17 million at the present time.

THIS IS THE TRUTH

Perhaps it should not be so heralded throughout the country that the Oshkosh North-Western has changed its views for fear it might make them angry but it is always a pleasing sight to see the eyes of the people opened at last even though it took a brick house to fall upon them before they came to their senses.
The following is from the Oshkosh North-Western formerly a La Follette organ, now classed among the conservative column.

We do not believe that Mr. La Follette will consent to the nomination of Mr. Cook, Mr. Bradford, Mr.
Dennett, or any other man but himself. Confident of his absolute personal control of his followers, there is every reason to believe that he will force his own nomination for a third term and then attempt to get himself elected senator in the place of Mr. Quarles. Whether he can do this remains to be seen. The people of Wisconsin never relished a control of a boss and it is doubtful if any man can assert absolute dominion over the will, and wishes of others for a long period without awakening a rebellion that will result in his overthrow.

HIGH BALLS NOT WAR

On Sunday the world was startled with news of another revolution in Panama. Perhaps it would not be proper to say the world was startled but still the news flashed over the wires that General Vasquez Cobos had assumed control of the government, and chased the Governor into the tall timbers in his pajamas, had driven out innocent citizens and had destroyed the entire office of a newspaper. It was alarming news and the American Consul Cudger cabled the state department the facts in the case at once hinting that a warship would be a good adjunct to his power. Like all South American wars the whole outbreak was an act from an Opera Bouffe.
General Cobos was invited out to dinner. He drank too much of the Scotch high balls and like the Sultan of Sulu of George Ade fame moun-ed "the cold gray dawn of the morning after." Yet unlike the famed Sultan he was not content to remain quiet and wrap towels about his head and cool ice at his feet, but he must be doing something. The government did not please him and he straightway called his army of ten ragged men and told them to start a revolution. Now if there is one thing more than eating a watermelon that a South American negro likes it is a revolution and so they began a good one. First they cleaned out the printing offices that had made slighting remarks about the brave general and then they chased the governor to the high timbers.
Sunday it was different. General Cobos awoke with that awful brown taste and such a headache. The Scotch was gone and he was melancholy. Another officer appeared at the head of his gallant army of ten and he, the great revolutionist was placed under arrest and the cruel war was over. High balls not war.

NET RESULT IN VENEZUELA

Measured by its consequences, the Anglo-German intervention in Venezuela was a notable event in its relation to the laws of nations. It was notable first, as an impressive assertion to the right of intervention, for the protection of subjects of the intervening states; second, as definitely fixing the status of the "pacific blockade," third, it was as a solemn recognition of the Monroe doctrine, by non-American states; fourth, in finally strengthening the position, of the Hague Court and in advancing the cause of international arbitration. The influence exerted by the United States government in the affair is one of the chief contributions which have yet been made in behalf of the peace and progress of nations. For it was important that the true nature and limits of the "pacific blockade" should be defined and generally accepted since they vitality concerned the commercial prosperity of the states which are bound by a law of their being to protect their foreign commerce. And not less important and far-reaching are the consequences which will flow from the recognition of the Monroe Doctrine and from the reference to The Hague Tribunal.

LEO BROWNELL STILL PLAYING

JANESVILLE MAN HAS NOT BEEN PUT OUT.

AFTER CONSOLATION TROPHY

Failed to Qualify in First Flight—H. Haggart Treasurer—McGiffin Plays Baker.

(Special to The Gazette.) Racine, Wis., July 31.—Leo Brownell this morning defeated C. C. Chase one up. The other golfers in the semi-finals for the consolation cup are G. Kellogg of Milwaukee, J. Van Ingen of Kenosha, and R. Flanders of Milwaukee. The contestants in the finals for the championship are H. Voso of Milwaukee, Edward Duchan of Racine, W. H. Yule of Kenosha, and J. T. Blake of Racine.

Brownell Qualifies
If qualifying scores show how the wind blows Leo Brownell bids fair to play at least into the semi-finals of the second flight in the state golf tournament at the Racine Country club. His total of 95 in qualifying—the rounds being a 48 and a 47—was excelled by two men, J. F. Burke and G. Kellogg of Milwaukee, and equaled by F. L. Mitchell of Racine and John Van Ingen of Kenosha. 93 was the lowest qualifying score in the second sixteen. This carries Brownell into the playing for the consolation cup.

Brownell's first opponent in the play for the consolation trophy was R. T. Robinson, Jr., of Racine, who had qualified at 100, and defeated him two up. This morning he was paired against C. C. Chase who qualified at 101. Granting that the match was a victory, as it would seem that it should be, he is this afternoon playing in the semi-finals.

The feature of the tournament was the defeat of Champion Fred Peterson of Kenosha, by Francis Hinda, of Racine. Hamilton Voso, the ex-champion and a member of the Milwaukee Country club, is looked upon as the probable trophy holder in the first flight for the champion.

New Club Treasurer
Harry Haggart was last evening elected treasurer of the St. Ignace Golf club at a meeting of the board of directors. He will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edgar Hyde.

Freak Match Tied
The McGiffin-Baker match from Baker's store to the links began at one-thirty o'clock this afternoon, and a few minutes before three-thirty the two golfers holed out at No. nine, each player having used ninety-one strokes. The match being a tie, the contestants are now playing nine holes to determine who shall buy the Haskell.

TRADE IN WHEAT ON GREAT SCALE

Sharp Advance of Eighty Cents on Bull News—Some Reaction Followed.

Wheat sold over 80c Thursday for all the active deliveries, and trade around the even figure was on an enormous scale, the culmination temporarily of the bull movement which has been based on the theories of short yields in this country, encouraged by the monotonous uniformity of disappointing thrashing returns and encouraged still more by the recent revival in export business. Sharp advances in foreign markets in more generous responses to the strength here the day before than they have been giving of late started the market strong, September selling 1/2c higher, to 79 1/2c.

Heavy profit taking by southwestern and local bulls forced a reaction to 78 1/2c, but the buying was of prodigious volume and would not be denied, forcing the market finally to 80 1/2c. Around this figure profit taking again became heavy, several times forcing reaction under 80c, from which there were sharp recoveries on new investment buying or covering by shorts. The realizing, however, was finally too much for the buying power and the market reacted September closing at 79 3/4c, a loss of 1/4c from the top, but a net gain of 1/2c for the day. The trade was more important than the news, which was little more than a repetition of conditions known to exist before. Cold weather in the northwest and some reports of frost in North Dakota may have stimulated buying, and some of the late demand was based on reports from the seaboard of 320,000 bu taken for export. Harvest returns from Nebraska are as disappointing as ever, and the movement to market no heavier, receipts at primary points 521,000 bu, compared with 1,148,000 bu last year.

School for the Blind.
The state of Wisconsin provides for the education of all the children within its borders. For those who are blind, or whose eyesight is very defective, a special school is maintained at Janesville, Wisconsin. In this school, blind children are taught all the subjects of the common school, and high school courses and besides receive instructions in music, manual training and various trades. Tuition board, and washing are free to residents of Wisconsin. If you have a blind, or partially blind child in your family, correspond at once with the school. If you know of blind children in other families who are not members of the school you should send their names and addresses of parents to Mr. C. R. Showalter, Supt., Janesville, Wisconsin.

WHO IS THE GIRL WHO IS PICTURED?

The Parker Pen Company Has a Third Ward Young Lady's Picture on Advertisements.

A Janesville girl living in the Third ward will have her picture go to many parts of the world. The Parker Pen Co. has had a large lithograph finished eighteen by twenty-one inches in size, from a likeness of the young lady who in the picture is looking over her shoulder and holding in her hand a pen box. She is supposed to be saying, "Yes sir, the Parker is the pen that has the lucky curve." The picture is said to be an excellent likeness and it is that of a handsome girl. The lithograph framed will be distributed very generally.

TWO VACANCIES IN LIST OF TEACHERS

Miss Armstrong and Mr. Whitcomb Resign Their High School Positions.

After the school board had filled every position in the high school faculty for the coming year, they now find themselves confronted with two more vacancies. In order to be with relatives at Wauwatosa Miss Armstrong has decided to teach in that city for the coming year. Miss Armstrong took up science work here about the middle of last year, coming from Portage, and the school board is sorry to lose her services.

Mr. Whitcomb, who was engaged to take charge of the manual training department, has severed his contract in order to accept a position at Pueblo, Col., which offers $400 more annually than he would receive here. His home is in Grand Rapids, Mich. No steps have yet been taken to fill either position.

PEDESTRIAN TO COME NEXT WEEK

ROBERT M. WILSON LEAVES CHICAGO TOMORROW.

WILL WALK TO FROZEN NORTH

Journey of 8,300 Miles To Be Made on Foot—Will Be in Janesville About Thursday.

Robert M. Wilson editor of the Durand Clipper, who is to walk to Alaska and back for an improvement syndicate, will pass through this city some time next week, probably about Thursday. His 8,000 mile journey will start tomorrow noon from Chicago. The extreme point which he is to make on foot is Cape Lisburne, and he must return to Chicago by the first of November, next year.

Nearly Twenty Miles Daily
In order to make this distance within the schedule time, Mr. Wilson will be obliged to cover an average distance of seventeen miles daily, Sundays being included. His route will take him to Rockford, where he will arrive next Tuesday. In that city he will be welcomed at the city limits by Mayor Jackson and other citizens.

Comes Through Janesville
Leaving Chicago, Wilson will journey to Rockford, and thence through Beloit and this city to Madison. Duluth, Waukegan, and points in north-west Canada to the Selkirk will be touched on the way to Alaska. From Cape Nome his route will take him to Cape Lisburne, and then eastward along the Arctic circle to the Mackenzie river, Port Nelson, and finally back to Chicago by way of the "Soo".

COWBOYS GO TO BELOIT RACES

Four of the Wild West Performers Take Horses to Line City—Sale Tomorrow.

Blocker, Thompson, and the two Gilmans, the cowboys who gave a street exhibition a few nights ago, are in Beloit today participating in the races and fancy riding exhibitions. Upon their promise to return the horses in time for the sale tomorrow the men were given some horses belonging to the Wild West. The boys hope to be able to use the same horses at other track exhibitions this fall.

Sheriff Appleby today received an inquiry by telegram from Col. G. W. Hall of Evansville, dated at Nashville, Tenn. The telegram said: "What is to be done with the Forepaugh-Fish show?"

The Evansville showman is not alone in his interest shown in the sale. The sale is to occur tomorrow and a number of representatives of large shows are expected to bid. It is also probable that a part of the old management of the concern will attempt to bid it back. Auctioneer Dooley will handle the hammer.

Frills and Fancies of the Summer Fashions

What Is Correct in Feminine Dress for Out-of-Door Occasions During the Hot Days.

HERE is no doubt that we are following the example set us in Paris, and are making it a white season. There has been a practical reason for the wearing of white, odd as the word "practical" may sound in connection with such an unrefractable color. It means that in the cold weather from which we all suffered in the late spring and early summer, white fabrics gave a suggestion of sunny days to come, and yet were as warm as cloths of darker hue. Thus hopsacks, serges, cloths, and a hundred and one new canvas materials and wools in cream and white have been much in vogue during the past two months.

Of the white gowns none are more attractive than the French tailor-built affairs. Ever so smart is a white serge, made with a series of seven founces, graduated from about four inches below the waist, and very frou-frou at the feet. Each of these founces has a border of large black spots of various sizes. These spots also form a trimming on the smart coat bodice, which is finished with a yoke of most exquisite lace, with a touch of rose-pink underneath, and will be worn with a wide band and a simple black hat, with no decoration beyond a wreath of glorious velvet vieux-rose pamples. With this is to be carried a white silk en-tout-cas with black spots thereon. This black and white costume is the very essence of smartness. To wear over it is a loose taffeta coat, with a big pelerine cape of old guipure, lined with zibeline.

Yet another French frock, which is extraordinarily simple, is in a porphyry blue cloth edged with the sweetest little entre-deux of cream lace, outlined with black and white chenille braid. This is made in the form of a tunic, fastening with early Victorian buttons, finishing with a black panne belt, with straps of embroidery decorating the rather full, fairly short skirt. When I say short, I mean it just touches the ground all round.

Now, in direct contrast to this, and in view of a hot summer's day, there are some glorious hand-painted muslins on a silky ground. Pompadour designs are, of course, most popular, and their beauty is wonderfully enhanced by the addition of a little coat, either in very fine, old-fashioned embroidered lawn, or some real lace. The skirts of these are accented plaited, finely gauged or plisse, and most of them are made with a separate founce, which joins the skirt below the knees in order to give the necessary amount of frou-frou.

Muslin and lace gowns really deserve pages to themselves. A pale green muslin has bunches of orange pomegranates painted thereon, and seems to consist of an intricate mass of gaugings, tuckings and insertions. A very charming addition is a pelerine consisting of green silk fringe, with a flourish of hand-embroidered lawn. The waist of this frock is encircled by a band of orange panne, which fabric, let me tell you, though it does not sound as summery fabric, is a very favorite one and runs taffeta very close in popularity.

A dainty afternoon gown, which is shown in an illustration, is made of soft white chiffon printed faintly with black spots of different sizes, and the trimmings consist of graceful wreaths of fine black Chantilly lace and insertions of beige-colored guipure. The folded waistband is of emerald-green panne velvet, and bows of the same appear under the brim of the hat, which is trimmed with a wreath of pale pink roses.

One of the many charming fete gowns, suitable for race meetings and other outdoor occasions, is shown in an illustration. It is constructed with the graceful flowing lines of the early Victorian period. The long box plaits are of the faintest opalescent blue tulle, and the Victorian cape collar is a wonderful linen embroidery, enhanced by silken strappings applied as a fine Valenciennes net. The skirt has an entre-deux above its plait wide hem, which rises in high points between the plaits and is, like the cape, enhanced by outlines and tiny designs in strappings of the blue mousseline. The full treble plaits which, beautifully graduated and arranged, form the skirt, have a very small flat white silk braid on their folded edges, while a garniture of wee buttons and braid on suite and a laminaire, forms a very becoming front panel, passing as it does from waist to hem in a height-giving line. As to the bodice, it is French, and therefore pouched; a high fitted band of blue mousseline garnished with smartly interlaced straps, outlined with white, of course (but you must bear in mind that there is but a tone's difference between white and this palest of the opal's blues), is one of the distinguished features, and large puffed early Victorian sleeves, finished at the elbow by wide straight gauntlet cuffs en suite, with the collar and entradeux, are notably another one. Beneath the cuffs peep fascinating little plaitings of finest batiste, lace inserted, and below this again are under cuffs of linen embroidery, silk enhanced. The vest is of finest, much elaborated, semitransparent, batiste, and the lining throughout of white taffetas.

The hat designed to be worthy of this gown turns off the face in a very becoming and slightly Victorian manner, and is of fine white chip narrowly edged with burnt chip, which is cleverly accented with small black lines, for most smart things have a touch of black nowadays, and very becoming it is, too, and the long soft tulle strings, to tie or float at pleasure, passing round the crown and held by a greenish l'art nouveau stud, are black also. Soft white plumes droop under the brim over the hair and away to almost touch the shoulder, just disclosing en route a tight choux of rosy "champagne" satin, while a cluster of roses of the same fashionable hue, with their glossy shaded leaves, decorate the crown and complete this charming picture chapeau. As finishing touches come the stole and sunshade. The former is of softest white chiffon, much gauged between horizontal lines of wide ruching.

I have seen some lovely 1830 bonnets in chip and chiffon, and, indeed, several composed wholly of lace. They are mostly of a large order with strings, and, therefore, very closely resemble a picture hat, finished with a single feather and a rose.

I think the best hats are still of the Catherineburg type in beautiful chips, in black, white and pale shades. Some are simply trimmed with wonderful choux of ribbon and an equally wonderful buckle, while others have a long, sweeping feather. These hats are very distinctive, but must not be ranked among economical headgear.

The Louis XV. shoes with big buckles never come amiss, and your hostess can be as fine and as elaborate as you please. This is of as much importance as the undershirt, some examples of which are made in a variety of bright foulds or demure black and white and blue and white checks.

White cambric petticoats are delightful with muslin frocks, but I think the foulds, plain glaces and soft washing silks are more in keeping with the linen or serge frock.

A white serge coat of three-quarter length fashioned by the tailor, is still almost a necessity in our wardrobe; some of these coats are unlined and so do not form a very expensive item—the only point is they must be cut by a good tailor. And, after all, it is a foolish woman who objects to paying for cut.

GREAT STRIKE MAY BE RENEWED

TIE ON IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Anthracite Miners Are Ordered Back to Work Pending the Adjustment of Disputes, Which Appear to Be Far From Settlement.

Pottsville, Pa., July 31.—It is doubtful whether the great labor problems awaiting adjustment in the anthracite region will ever be settled by the conciliation board. The coal companies have three representatives on the board and so have the miners. On every important question they are a tie, and one of the members admitted that it is unlikely that they will ever be able to agree on an umpire as provided by the commission's award.

May Renew Strike. "This makes the whole proceeding a farce," he said, in this case it is intimated the miners will resort to extreme measures, even to the extent of renewing the great strike, to redress their grievances.

Supts. Rawland and Kudlick, who are charged with discriminating against strikers formerly employed by Cox Brothers & Co., testified before the committee that the reason the men were refused employment was because they were accused of rioting during the strike.

The board adjourned to meet again next Thursday, after having adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, Strikes are occurring throughout the anthracite region in violation of the terms of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission, which was accepted by both employer and employees; and Must Return to Work.

"Whereas, The board of conciliation, appointed under the provisions of the said award, provided in rule 4: 'Inasmuch as the anthracite coal strike commission in their award provided that no suspension of work shall take place pending the adjudication of any matter brought before the board for adjustment, and that no lockouts or strikes shall be necessary, the board of conciliation will not take up or consider any question referred to it unless the employees return to work, with the understanding that if the board of conciliation decides that the grievances are justifiable the adjustment shall be retroactive'; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the board of conciliation, That where a strike has occurred or shall occur at any colliery coming under the award, the organization representing the majority of the mine workers shall insist that the employees of the particular colliery where said strike shall have occurred return to work; and as a penalty for having violated the provisions of the award the grievance shall not be adjusted by the board of conciliation."

BOSTON NEGROES HISS WASHINGTON

QUESTIONS LEAD TO THE FIGHT

Trouble is precipitated when lecturer is asked if a man can be a successful educator and a politician at the same time.

Boston, Mass., July 31.—People of his own race nearly created a riot during an address by Booker T. Washington at Zion church. The efforts of twenty-five policemen were required to suppress the disturbance, one of the officers was severely stabbed with a hatpin, and a negro, said to have been among the disturbers, is in the hospital suffering from several bad razor cuts.

The outbreak seems to have been due to a prearranged plan on the part of those who favor a liberal education for the colored race, as opposed to the industrial education favored by Mr. Washington.

Ask Pointed Questions.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Colored Business Men's Association, and the negro educator was hardly more than fairly started on his address when the disturbers began to hurl questions at him.

"Are the rope and the torch all the race is to get through your leadership?" one man shouted.

"Can a man be a successful educator and a politician at the same time?" cried another.

"Put these people out," thundered William H. Lewis, an assistant United States district attorney, who was presiding.

Razors in the Air.

A storm of hisses was his response, and the fight immediately began. Several razors were brandished, a number of men knocked down, and the entire audience seemed certain to be involved in the affray when the police arrived.

The alarm was sounded by a policeman who, passing the building, heard the noise, signaled for assistance, and rushed in with three other officers at his back. The four men were utterly unable to cope with the crowd, a telephone call was sent in for more help, and a patrol wagon load of bluecoats was soon on the ground.

Blames Boisterous Persons.

Four persons were arrested, one of whom was a woman, who was afterward released at police headquarters. After the fight had been suppressed, Mr. Washington continued with his address, speaking for nearly two hours. Following the meeting, both sides issued statements. Mr. Washington missing his train for South Weymouth in his anxiety to visit all the newspaper offices. He asserted that the colored people of Boston should not be held responsible for the act of a few boisterous individuals.

William Monroe Trotter, one of the men arrested, explained that the trouble was due solely to the chairman's order for the ejection of those who hissed or otherwise manifested their disapproval of the speaker's remarks. He admitted that he and his friends went to the meeting to ask certain questions and to resent any attack made by Mr. Washington on the New England representatives in the recent Afro-American council at Louisville.

Cruisers Reach Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., July 31.—The converted yachts Siren and Restless, from Norfolk, have arrived at the naval academy. The two boats are on a cruise with a number of landmen aboard for instructions.

Arrest Tramps for Fees.

Rattlesnake Bites Woman.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 31.—There is an "epidemic" of rattlesnake bites in the vicinity of Coloma. One of Robert Umphrey's cows was bitten and died from the effects. Mrs. Vincent Wenzel was bitten on a finger by a rattler in the cellar. Her recovery is doubtful.

SKILLED IN SURGERY.

Sir Frederick Treves, Who Operated on King Edward of England.
Sir Frederick Treves, the famous English surgeon who has just retired, goes into private life with the unparalleled record of having performed over a thousand operations for appendicitis without a death.

It was Sir Frederick who, as surgeon to King Edward, was called upon to perform the delicate abdominal operation on his majesty last summer just prior to the coronation.

The great surgeon, who is but fifty years old, was educated in London and won his reputation in the London hospitals. When the Boer war broke out he threw up his practice and went to South Africa as consulting surgeon of the army. On his return to the British capital he was knighted and later was appointed sergeant surgeon to the king.

A YOUTHFUL SCIENTIST.

Inventor of Wonderful Device to Make the Deaf Hear.

Scientific men all over the world are deeply interested in the discovery made by Miller Reese Hutchinson, a young inventor, who by means of an electrical device has seemingly demonstrated that the deaf can be made to hear.

The instrument as explained by the inventor is an application of the combined principles of the telephone and the microphone, the latter being a very sensitive scientific instrument for the magnifying of sound. By the combination sounds are vastly magnified through the outer and middle ears to the inner ear and the auditory nerve.

In operation the instrument sends the air waves against the tympanum and forces it to vibrate, thus vibrating the middle ear and loosening the three vibratory bones so that they perform their functions. It was the use of this appliance, it is said, that enabled Queen Alexandra of England to regain her hearing, which for some years had been impaired. Mr. Hutchinson is the happy possessor of a gold medal given him by the queen "for scientific research and investigation."

While pursuing his investigation the inventor made a study of the human ear under one of the leading aurists of the country, acquiring a thorough knowledge of its mechanical construction. Speaking of this phase of his research, the inventor said: "I am an engineer, electrician and mechanic, and the human body is mechanism. The perfecting of my invention has been due to the application of sound mechanical principles and mathematical facts to the mechanical aspects of the ear as an organ."

Miller Reese Hutchinson is a native of Mobile and ten years ago, when but sixteen years of age, began working on the problem, which even at that age had engrossed his attention. He was educated in the public schools and at the Alabama Polytechnic institute, graduating from that school as an electrical engineer. After his graduation Mr. Hutchinson applied himself to the perfecting of two instruments by means of which, it is said, persons who have never heard a sound in all their lives have been enabled to hear with distinctness music played on a piano and the tones of the human voice in ordinary conversation.

Had Reason For It.

"The only trouble with my pipe," remarked the stoggy smoker, "is that it gets so hot."

"Humph!" retorted the man who speaks his mind. "I don't wonder, considering the kind of tobacco you stuff into it."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Why She WouldNot Marry

(Original.)

Two strangers, Mark and Sarah Colter, appeared in Lone Star Gulch one morning, informed the miners living there that they were brother and sister, built a cabin and settled themselves. Mark Colter bought a claim and every morning, shouldering his pick and shovel, went out to work it, while Sarah remained at home and did the housework. Sarah was a good looking woman thirty years of age and had not been long at Lone Star Gulch before she was sought in marriage by several miners. She, however, declined the attentions of them all, declaring that she was devoted to her brother and would not leave him.

There was one, however, who persisted. This was Ralph McCann. He was a fair haired, blue eyed fellow of twenty-eight and had a very attractive way with him, especially for women. He soon made headway with Sarah Colter, who did not from the first turn to him the cold shoulder she had turned to her other suitors. Mark Colter, instead of rejoicing in the prospect of being relieved of the support of a sister, frowned on her acceptance of the attentions of McCann, whom he at last forbade the house. McCann appealed to Sarah to stand by him in preference to her brother, but Sarah did nothing but weep and wring her hands. Evidently she was bound to her brother by some extraordinary tie, and it was plain that she had fallen deeply in love with the stranger.

One evening after working hours Colter and McCann met on the road-way running between the few houses ranged on either side and known as the town of Lone Star Gulch.

"Colter," said McCann, "I would like some explanation with regard to your objections to my attentions to your sister. We are devotedly attached to one another, I have some money and a good claim and can give the best of references. If there is any reason that I can explain away—"

"All I have to say to you, Ralph McCann, is to let my sister alone."

"I certainly will if she desires it or if you will give me any good ground for your opposition."

"You say you'll let her alone if she desires it. Do you mean to tell me that she doesn't desire it?"

"She clings to you in preference to me, but her heart—"

Colter turned white. He made as if to draw his revolver, but instantly changed his mind.

"Let her alone," he cried fiercely and strode away rapidly.

The next morning a note from Sarah was left at McCann's door begging him to desist from any further attempt to win her or even to see or communicate with her, adding that she could never be his wife as long as her brother lived. McCann, knowing by the tone of her letter that she was in earnest, made no further attempt to see her.

One afternoon when the coach passed through Lone Star Gulch a stout woman with a resolute look on her face got off with her clothes tied up in a bundle and put up in the only boarding house in the place. What the woman, who called herself Mrs. Wilbur, was to do in this out of the way mining town did not transpire, but there was a surprise among the citizens when it was known a few days later that she had gone to live at the Colters'. The surprise was occasioned by the fact that Colter and his sister had lived entirely alone, never receiving any company, and there was not a family in the gulch where any one, especially an unattractive woman as Mrs. Wilbur, would be less likely to find board.

The day after the event there were rumors of high words being heard in the middle of the night at the Colters', but as there were no evidences of trouble, except for the grim appearance of Mrs. Wilbur and a certain whiplike look about Colter, no one could surmise what had occurred—that is, no one but Ralph McCann, who got his explanation in this wise:

Having need to go to a neighboring town for some blasting material, he set out early in the morning and was returning in the afternoon when he saw Sarah Colter on the road coming toward him.

"Where are you going?" asked McCann when they met.

"From the man with whom I have been living."

"Your brother?"

"I supposed he was my husband," replied Sarah, with a tremor in her voice, "but I was deceived. He had a wife before he married me. His name is James Wilbur, and his wife has appeared with proofs of her marriage to him."

McCann sat for a few minutes thunderstruck, first incensed at the wrong that had been done the woman he loved, then a joy welling up in his heart that there was no insurmountable barrier between them.

"So this is the reason you clung to Colter. You supposed you were his wife. Why did you pass as brother and sister?"

"He forced me to it, making a pretended confession after we were married that he had been involved in unfortunate business transactions that would cause criminal prosecution if he was found. His real reason was to avoid his wife, who would be less likely to trace one living with a sister than a wife."

"What are you going to do now?"

"Get away from him."

"Very well. I will go with you."

Neither Ralph McCann nor Sarah Colter, as she had been called, was ever seen in Lone Star Gulch again. They were a very happy couple in a new home.

BUNKER HILL BOY DIES OF POISON

STRYCHNINE IN HIS STOMACH

Unnamed Suspect Admits Having Purchased the Drug, but Affirms It Was Used to Destroy Rats—Denies Giving Child Sweets.

Bunker Hill, Ill., July 31.—Ewart Checkfield, the six-year-old son of James W. Checkfield, local manager of the Union Dairy company of St. Louis, died from spasms under such suspicious circumstances that a coroner's inquest was held and undeniable evidences of strychnine poisoning were found.

Checkfield recently came here and succeeded G. Guller as manager for the dairy company. He had no enemies so far as known and no adequate motive for the murder of the little boy can be suggested.

Suspicion points strongly to a prominent woman of this city, however, and the developments of the case are expected to prove astounding.

Gets Candy from Woman.
Little Ewart Checkfield was the only son of his father and invalid mother. He is a regular morning and evening trip to the milkhouse for his father, and each time got his bucket filled with milk. Wednesday evening he departed from his home on his usual errand, swinging his bucket to and fro in childish light-heartedness.

At 7:30 o'clock he returned home, running and crying. His father ran to meet him and anxiously inquired what was the matter. The boy replied that a woman had given him a piece of candy which was bitter. On being questioned he said the woman had only one piece of candy and that it was wrapped up in a piece of paper and she told him to be sure and not take it home.

Dies in Convulsion.
Not attaching much importance to the child's story, his father gave him a glass of milk and a piece of celery to take the taste out of his mouth.

In a few minutes, however, the child became alarmingly ill. Before a physician could be summoned the boy was in convulsions and in fifteen minutes he was dead. The physician who arrived a few minutes later declared there was no doubt that the boy had been poisoned with strychnine.

A post-mortem examination was made and the contents of the boy's stomach will be thoroughly analyzed.

Woman Buys Poison.

It was brought out at the inquest that the child told his father the name of the woman who gave the candy. This woman has often been heard to express her dislike for children, and at the inquest witnesses testified that she had recently purchased strychnine at the drug store of William H. Budd. She admits having bought the poison, but declares she used it to kill rats.

In an interview the woman said: "I most certainly did not give the Checkfield boy any candy at any time. When he came for his milk he was eating something. 'What are you eating?' I asked him. 'I am eating candy a little boy gave,' he replied."

THE ISLAND OF IONA.

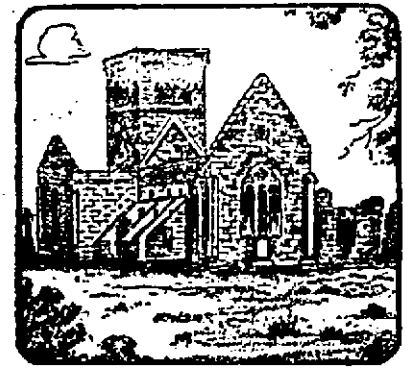

It Is to Become the New Home of the French Carthusians.

A Little Sketch of This Odd Corner of the World That Is Filled with Rare Relics of Sacred Associations.

A London cablegram says that the French Carthusians, who were recently expelled from the monastery of the Grande Chartreuse in France, have succeeded in completing a bargain with the Duke of Argyll for the purchase of Iona, "The Blessed Isle," in the Hebrides, with the condition that the sacred and historical associations of the island be preserved. Perhaps this order might search far and wide and find no refuge more appropriate than this little dot of land off the west coast of Scotland, and it may be taken for granted that the Isle's sacred and historical associations will not suffer at their reverent hands.

The Isle of Iona is very small—about 2½ miles long and a mile and a quarter wide—but its worn out soil is fairly surcharged with historical interest. In ancient times, so the story goes, when the Druids were driven from Scotland they retired at last to this Isle and there continued with their sacred rites and ceremonies. But the Isle was consecrated to the cause of Christianity in 563 when one of the Kings of the Picts of north Scotland gave the spot to Columba, a relative of Scottish and Irish kings, in acknowledgment of his religious zeal among their people. Columba landed at the Island in a wicker boat with 12 disciples, in a little bay that is still called the "Haven of the Wicker Boat," and after burying the boat that no one might return in the event of homesickness, he built a monastery that came to be regarded as the mother church of the Picts. From this Isle Christianity was first introduced into Scotland and the north of England.

A curious legend declares that when St. Columba was building his walls, his daily labor was destroyed each night by the arch fiend who scattered to the ground all the stones the pious monks had been at such trouble to pile up. St. Columba was in a sad dilemma, but after many prayers he was told in a vision that he must bury alive some volunteer among his followers. Later, says the legend, when Columba went as a pilgrim to the tomb, he found that

THE CATHEDRAL OF IONA.

A strange miracle had been performed, that the corpse was fresh and undecaying.

When Columba had completed his work of erecting the holy structure which he built in the Isle he gave the Isle the name Iona, or the Isle of Columba of the Cell.

Legendary lore would add this incident as indicating the strictness of his purpose: Close to Iona there is a little rock Isle called "Wives Island." It is said that Columba became at one time disturbed in his devotions by the repeated contentions of the feminine portion of his population and that he suddenly banished all the women and cows to this barren place.

Columba died in 597. After his death the monks suffered expulsion from the pious Isle. Pirates overran the Island and the Norsemen several times ravaged it. Its history from that time until the seventeenth century is a story of various rebuildings, pilgrimages of Kings, disputes among bishops as to jurisdiction, and various religious regenerations at the hands of monks and nuns who made the Isle their headquarters. In 1617 James VI. placed the monastery under the bishopric of Argyll and in 1631 Charles I. commanded the ruins to be restored. During all of these centuries the Isle was regarded as a sanctified place and the bodies of kings were taken there for burial. It is said that 40 Scottish kings, two Irish kings, two Norwegian princes and numberless others of royal blood and high rank are interred in "The Blessed Isle." That the island came to be regarded as peculiarly a burial ground may be gathered from the fact that Duncan I. and his murderer Macbeth, of Shakespeare's tragedy, was interred at "Colm-kill." Among the famous ruins of the Island are the Cathedral, the Nunnery, the St. Oran's chapel and various ancient crosses and tombstones. It is doubtful, however, if any of these reach back into the half-fabled time of Columba; they are the structures erected by enthusiasts of the eleventh century.

Iona to-day is one of the many odd spots, with an historical heritage, which tourists love to visit. To the latter it has an added interest because of the visit made to the Isle by the great Dr. Johnson and his faithful private chronicler, Boswell, and the literary work which resulted therefrom. The few inhabitants of Iona do a little fishing and a little tilling of the ground, but depend chiefly for their support upon the money left by tourists.

DANVILLE ALDERMEN CONDEMN THE RIOTERS

Councilmen Urge Courts and Officials to Do Their Duty and Pledge Support.

Danville, Ill., July 31.—The city council adopted resolutions strongly condemning the lawless acts of Saturday night, July 25, urging courts and officials to take every possible step to prosecute the guilty, and promising the most strenuous assistance in the power of the council and city government to aid in the work.

Four more rioters have been arrested charged with defacing public property, and held in bonds of $500 (11) the hearing on Aug. 6. They were John Cress, Winfield Baker, O. L. Mansfield and William Redwine. Baker is recognized by deputies as a leader of the mob attacking the jail, who flourished two revolvers and used particularly offensive language toward the officers and encouraged his fellows in trying to batter down the doors. Redwine denied being at the jail, but Sheriff Whitlock removed his clothing and displayed three shot wounds in his legs. The inquest into the death of W. D. Metcalf, the colored victim of the mob, was held. Coroner Johnson experienced great difficulty in securing witnesses, few being willing to admit their presence at the jail during the trouble.

Nine witnesses were examined before the coroner's jury, and not one of them could identify anybody actually engaged in the attack on the city building or the killing of Metcalf. The witnesses were severely cross-examined by the coroner and his deputy but absolutely no evidence was forthcoming that can be used in prosecuting offenders. The verdict was that Metcalf came to his death at the hands of persons unknown to the jury.

Rumors to the effect that negroes were buying arms were investigated. While an unusual quantity of ammunition has been purchased, the sale of guns and revolvers was normal.

chased at an exorbitant figure the leading republican paper of Wisconsin, and began systematically to carry the state by the most corrupt methods known to hoodie politics.

The Press
"It is doubtful if ever before in the history of the politics of this country has occurred such a wholesale debauchery of the press as this league accomplished. Something over 300 republican newspapers sold their editorial columns and permitted this Wisconsin Tammany to furnish syndicated editorials and syndicated press comments to be run through a chain of newspapers.

"The expenditure of such vast sums in a political campaign could only have been met by corporations with unlimited resources, but when it is remembered the money represented by the railway taxation issue alone was the round sum of $1,000,000 annually, it becomes at once apparent that it was coolly regarded as a business investment."

Wisconsin's Fortune
Wisconsin is fortunate even though the awful conservatives have thus far blocked all legislation that might be classed with the radical moves of Bryanism according to the governor and the manner in which all the great evils which overwhelm the state at present can be done away with when the caucus is reformed. At the conclusion of the speech Secretary Moseley of the assembly proposed a Chatauqua salute which consisted of the furious waving of handkerchiefs by the audience. This was given by all the ladies present and the auditorium was white for a few minutes with fluttering white streamers.

The German Wireless Telegraph company has issued a statement regarding the possibility of intercepting Marconi messages. The German company says it can, in self-defense erect a strong station on the shores of the Baltic or the North sea, and it would be impossible for Marconi to receive transatlantic messages at Poldu, Cornwall.
